

Lawyers from France Federation founder and President, Ms Séverine SERRES, cordially asks Mr President of the USA, Donald Trump, not to breach the Paris agreement.

Dear Mr President of the USA,

Climate change is one of the major challenges for my generation and subsequent generations.

The USA and France must lead this challenge together.

This is a question about consciousness and liability.

When The USA and France become a model on climate change subject, the World will follow, we all know that.

Dear Mr President, as a lawyer I also cordially ask you to help to raise everyone's awareness of the fact that climate change is a relevant issue.

I am not saying, nor am I thinking, that this is the only issue the World must face in our times. But climate change is one of the relevant issues the USA and France must lead together, for generations to come.

Moreover, because climate change involves also a revolution of industrial processes and challenges, we cannot wait no longer in the implementation of the Paris agreement all around the World.

The industrial revolution linked to climate change, is also a significant competitive edge for industry now and in the future. No one can deny this.

The World can't wait any further.

My generation and generations to come are waiting for participating in this industrial revolution.

Please Mr President,

I cordially ask you not to weaken this great challenge.

I cordially ask you to give my generation and generations to come, the opportunity to change the World and make it better, building up in the same time, the strongest growth the World has ever known.

Yours respectfully,

Séverine Serres
